

Brief Note on Garment Research Training Design and Development Centre (GRTDC) Ballari

Garment Research Training Design and Development Centre (GRTDC) Ballari, is the Unit of the Karnataka State Textile Infrastructure Development Corporation, Bangalore (Govt. of Karnataka).

The said institute is built on 2.2 acres of land at Nallacheruvu, Ballari and has three main units viz. Administrative & Academic Block, Boys & Girls Hostels and Canteen & Convention Hall, The Academic Block consists of Sewing Section, Pattern Making and Cutting Section, Garment Finishing Section and Computer Aided Design Section. All the sections of the centers are fully equipped with imported modern machinery such as single needle lock stick machine with under-bed trimmer, double needle lock-stitch, feed off the arm, Over lock, flat lock, chain stick, electronic button holes, lock-stick button sewing, electronic lock-stitch, bar-ticker, electronic key button holes, waist band attach, loop making automatic pocket setter, single-needle lock zigzag (fully programmable), auto zig, collar turning, trimming and blocking, cuff blocking, pneumatic snap attaching, blind stitch, washing machine with dyeing facility and computerize embroidery machine.

These modern facilities will help students and professionals to come up with innovative and globally competitive products. In addition, the centre has experienced and trained faculty to impart latest knowledge to the students. National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT) has also lent its support to the centers by developing course curriculum and providing training to the faculty. Also institute provides equipped hostel facilities for both male & female students. Each accommodating nearly 50 students.

The above said Institute is affiliated to Vijayanagara Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Ballari and is offering 3 years B.Sc (Garment Manufacturing Technology) degree course.